189. Some/Other people say the size and scope of the challenges facing America are so great, it is nearly impossible to solve them. They say one person can't really make a difference, so the wisest path is to focus on taking care of yourself and your family – and not engage politically.

Other/Some people say that because the size and scope of the challenges facing America are so great, we have no choice but to engage in every way possible. They say that even though government is ineffective – we must engage politically, fight, and eventually change the system.

Methodology

The survey, which was conducted online, carries a 95 percent credibility level of +/-1.6 percentage points for the national sample of 15-25-year-olds and 2.6% for the national sample of adults over the age of 25. Post-stratification weights were calculated for this survey. Weights were calculated based on the 2020 and 2021 Current Population Survey, Ipsos's KnowledgePanel data for 18-25-year-olds and the Centers For Disease Control's data on the mental health of high school students. Gender, age, race and ethnicity, sexual orientation, educational attainment, current educational enrollment, marital status, and census division were used for weighting. Separate weights were calculated for the sample of 15-25-year-olds and for the sample of adults over the age of 25. Additionally, non-coverage bias factors associated with online behaviors were used to adjust the sample, including tablet ownership, trust in neighbors, and participation in civic activities and social media usage. Among the 15-25-year-olds sample, respondents had a mean weight of 1.82, a median weight of 1.19, and a standard deviation of 2.92. For the sample of adults over the age of 25, respondents had a mean weight of 1.17, a median weight of 2.25, and a standard deviation of 3.15.
