Methodology

This survey, which was conducted online, carries a 95 percent credibility level of +/- 1.7 percentage points for the national sample of 15-25-year-olds with a 3.0% for the national sample of adults over the age of 25. Post-stratification weights were calculated for this survey. Weights were calculated based on the 2021 and 2022 Current Population Survey, the 2021 and 2022 American Community Survey, the 2020 Census, Ipsos's KnowledgePanel data for 18-25-year-olds, and the Centers For Disease Control's data on the mental health of high school students. Gender, age, race and ethnicity, sexual orientation, education attainment, current educational enrollment, marital status, and census division were used for weighting. Separate weights were calculated for the sample of 15-to-25-year-olds and for the sample of adults over the age of 25. Additionally, non-coverage bias factors associated with online behaviors were used to adjust the sample, including tablet ownership, trust in neighbors, and participation in civic activities and social media usage. Among the 15-to-25-year-olds sample, respondents had a mean weight of 1.48, a median weight of .79, and a standard deviation of 2.81. For the sample of adults over the age of 25, respondents had a mean weight of 1.44, a median weight of 1.19, and a standard deviation of 3.35.
